VENEZUELA

VENEZUELA

VENEZUELA ("Little Venice"; 352,142 sq. mi.; pop. 6,512,000; cap. Caracas) was named by an early explorer from Indian villages built on stilts over Lake Maracaibo. Much pictured on postage stamps are leaders of its wars of independence: Miranda, Bolivar and Sucre. Half of Venezuela lies south of the great Orinoco River in an all but inaccessible wilderness. North of the Orinoco are grassy plains; along the Caribbean coast are sweltering lowlands; and in temperate mountain valleys of the north and northwest are located the principal cities. Venezuela ranks second (after U.S.A.) in world production of petroleum, its principal source of revenue, but most of the people are still poverty-striken agricultural workers. After decades of corrupt dictators, Venezuela is striving today to re-establish democratic government.

YEMEN

One of the few remaining absolute monarchies is the IMAMATE OF YEMEN (75,290 sq. mi.; pop. 4,500,000; cap. San'a), whose Imam Ahmed ibn Yahya Mohammed Hamid ed-Din traces his ancestry to Ali, son-in-law of the Prophet Mohammed. Yemen in Arabic means "the right hand," which describes its location when a Moslem pilgrim stands facing east before the Holy Kaaba Stone in Mecca. Unlike most of Arabia, Yemen is mountainous and has adequate rainfall; the majority of its people have therefore settled down to agriculture, and fishing in the Red Sea. Principal export is the famed coffee shipped through the port of Mocha. Yemen federated in 1958 with the United Arab Republic, each country keeping its sovereignty but placing defense and foreign economic policy under unified control.

GUMMED COUNTRY TITLES FOR BLANK SPEED-RILLE PAGES

Although illustrated supplements will be issued for all loose-leaf Harris Albums, many collectors prefer to arrange their new stamps on blank pages. These gummed titles will enable you to expand your loose-leaf album quickly by adding neatly titled extra pages whenever desired. Just cut out the title, trim with about 1/16" space all around, moisten, and press into position indicated by faint guide lines at top of your Speedrille pages. Additional supplies are available, in packages containing 112 Speed-rille pages and more than 500 gummed titles, for only $1.25 per package.

HOW TO COLLECT POSTAGE STAMPS

It's easy to start a stamp collection—and inexpensive too. This album, some stamps, and a supply of "stamp hinges" to fasten the stamps in the album, are everything you really need.

WHERE AND HOW TO GET STAMPS

A treasure hunt is an exciting way to start your collection. Go on a search for stamps that may be stored away to start your collection. Go on a search for stamps that may be stored away with old letters and papers in your own home, or in the homes of friends and relatives.

Have friends save stamps for you, especially businessmen and people with correspondence abroad.

Save stamps from everyday mail. Ordinary letters, postcards and packages will sometimes yield a fascinating variety of United States issues.

Trading with collector-triends is a fine way to dispose of duplicates in exchange for new stamps.

Buying stamps from a store or dealer is usually the favorite way of building a collection.

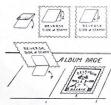

APPROVAL SELECTIONS

The major part of the stamp business is carried on through the mails by means of "approval selections." These are sheets, booklets or envelopes of stamps, marked with their selling prices, and sent by mail — "on approval" — to prospective customers. The collector examines the stamps, selects the ones he wants, and returns the balance to the dealer, together with payment for those he has kept for his collection. his collection.

his collection.

Collectors receiving stamps on approval make it a point of honor to handle them carefully and return them promptly (within 15 days at the most), enclosing payment for the stamps they keep. It is a great tribute to the hobby that millions of dollars worth of stamps are sold every year, by mail, in a spirit of mutual trust between dealer and collector.

HOW TO USE STAMP HINGES

The best way to fasten stamps on album pages is with little slips of gummed glassine paper called "stamp hinges." The diagram shows how:

1. Bend back the top half of the hinge, and lightly moisten the gum as indicated by the shaded area in the drawing. (Most collectors moisten hinges, by lighting these. and lightly mouses. It was the drawing. (Most by the shaded area in the drawing. (Most collectors moisten hinges by licking them, and hinge manufacturers are careful to use a pure and almost tasteless gum.)

2. Attach the hinge to the top of the stamps, with the crease of the hinge about 1/16" below the perforations.

3. Moisten lower half of hinge.

4. Now turn stamp over and attach hinge to album page. The stamp is now literally "hinged" into the album. Never remove hinges while they are still wet, or you may damage both stamp and album page.

WATERMARK VARIETIES, ETC.

Some stamps which on their faces appear to be the same are really different — and the most common difference is the "watermark". Watermarks are faint markings impressed into better-grade papers during manufacture. (Hold a sheet of good writing paper up to the light and you will see the watermark.)

light and you will see the watermark.)

To see a stamp's watermark, place the stamp on a flat black surface or on a "watermark detector" sold for the purpose, add a few drops of carbon tetrachloride (sold in any drugstore) and the watermark — if there is one — will usually show clearly.

Some stamps also vary as to perforations per inch (an inexpensive perforation gauge may be purchased to check these); and as to colors, shades, and kinds of paper. A stamp catalog will explain these differences more thoroughly.

HOW TO ORGANIZE A STAMP CLUB

Stamp collecting is twice as much fun if you can talk and swap stamps with other collectors. The best way to do this is by joining or starting a stamp club. A club enables you to increase your knowledge of stamps, dispose of your duplicates in exchange for stamps you want, and participate in enjoyable club activities, all at the same time. If and participate in enjoyable club activities, all at the same time. If there is not a stamp club in your neighborhood, it should be easy to persuade your friends to form one.

A stamp club may be as formal or informal as you please. It can be started by saying, "Let's meet at George's house tomorrow night and swap stamps." Or, if you wish, you can organize a regular club, with elected officers, a constitution and formally-conducted meetings, in either case, meetings should be held regularly, and if possible in some permanent meeting place. If a club room is not available, the meetings can be held in turn at the homes of the various members, where some obliging wife, mother or sister will usually be glad to serve that indispensable feature of all group meetings — the refreshments.

SUGGESTIONS FOR CLUB MEETINGS

Dues for club members should be kept moderate; just enough to furnish the "eats" and to provide a "kitty" for special occasions, such as the purchase of stamp prizes for your club contests.

Never forget that the primary purpose of a stamp club is pleasure and anything which is disagreeable or boring to a majority of the members should be carefully avoided. Get the official business over with as quickly as possible and let the fun begin, Here are a few suggestions for keeping your meetings lively; treasure hunt, for stamps hidden around the room; guessing contest; grab bag; auction sale of duplicates; and, of course, stamp trading, to which a large part of every meeting should be devoted.

GETTING NEW MEMBERS

One of the most important club activities should be helping to spread philately: showing other people what stamp collecting is all about, starting new collectors, and getting new members for the club. Visitors should be invited frequently to club meetings and encouraged to start stamp collections of their own.

Urge each of your friends to get an album and some packets of stamps, start a collection of his own, and join your stamp club. The more members you have in your club the livelier things will be. It means bigger and better entertainments, more opportunities for swapping duplicates, and more fun for each and every one who belongs.

FRANKLIN D. ROOSEVELT

"I commend stamp col-lecting because I believe it makes one a better citizen", wrote the late former president, who was himself a life-long collec-tor, and whose collection was valued at many thou-sands of dollars.

but also that it gives them an interest in foreign countries which they might not otherwise acquire.

Simple Instructions for Using Revolutionary NEW "Speed-rille" PAGES

You will discover quickly that these new Speedrille blank pages are a wonderful time and patience saver. Incorporating a unique design of lines which divide the sheet into equal sections, they allow for the most attractive spacing of nearly any size or shape stamps.

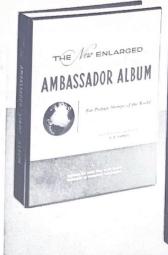

No more bothersome measuring or guessing . . . you simply place the stamp against (without touching) the left hand margin (A). The line that comes closest to the right hand perforations of the stamp (without actually touching the perforations), will determine the number of stamps of the same size you can place neatly and accurately across the page. If line B (solid) is nearest to the perforation, you will be able to fit eight stamps attractively across the page. Line C (large size dashes) provides for seven stamps, D (medium size dashes) allows room for six issues, E (small size dashes) for five stamps and F (solid line) for four. Horizontal lines are provided to enable you to keep the stamps on an even level. The neat and artistic stamp arrangements obtained when using these pages will add greatly to the over-all appearance of your album.

Once you have tried them you will always want Speed-rille pages.

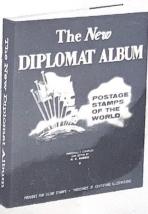

You can probably obtain additional supplies of Speed-rille pages and gummed country titles from the store or dealer from whom you purchased this album. They are available in sets of 112 pages (plus over 500 gummed country titles) for only $1.00.

Speed-rille Pages are an Exclusive Product of H. E. Harris & Co., Boston 17, Mass.

WHERE WOULD YOU PLACE THESE STAMPS IN YOUR ALBUM?

These are just three typical examples of the hundreds of hard-to-identify stamps most easily acquired by the average collector. The information-packed STAMP FINDER will tell you exactly what countries they are from, and thus where to mount them in your album.

This big 40-page illustrated booklet — an indispensable guide for both the beginning collector and the specialist — includes all 3 of these valuable features:

THE STAMP FINDER — Tells at a glance the country to which any postage stamp belongs and where to place it in your album. Makes simple the difficult task of determining the country origin of otherwise hard-to-trace stamps.

HOW TO COLLECT STAMPS — Explains everything you need to know, including "Where and How to Hunt for Stamps Worth Fortunes"; "How to Start a Stamp Club"; PLUS a host of other valuable collecting tips.

WORTH 3c or $3,000.00?

WORTH 3C OF $3,000.00!

Although the stamps illustrated here appear to be identical, one has a Catalog value of 3c while the other is worth approximately $3,000.00! This is just one of numerous rare and common look-alike stamps that you can easily identify with this valuable booklet.

U.S. STAMP IDENTIFIER — Fully illustrated, this handy, fact-filled section carefully points out the difference between rare and common U.S. stamps that look alike. Use it to search through your own collection for possible hidden treasures

AMERICA'S FAVORITE HOBBY

Numerous authorities have stated that America's favo-rite hobby is stamp collecting.

Life Magazine, after a comprehensive survey reported "of all hobbies, stamp collecting is most wide-

Boy's Life, official publication of the Boy Scouts of America, surveyed its two million readers and found postage stamps first in popularity among indoor hobbies. And Arthur Summerfield, when Postmaster General estimated that there were in the United States nearly twenty million stamp collectors. These include people in all walks of life, and of all ages and incomes.

Stamp collecting has been a favorite hobby of many world-formous people. Here are some of their comments:

"All of the Hoovers have been stamp collectors"
(Herbert Clark Hoover, 31st President of the U.S.)..."To encourage stamp collecting is to render a real social and educational service" (Roger W. Babson, business analyst and financial adviser) . . "Every development of this changing world is reflected by stamps and I have made my collection a vital part of my experience" (Ezio Pinza, star of opera, stage and screen) . . . These are but a few of many celebrities who could be listed here if space permitted.

IT'S EASY TO GET STARTED

Why do stamps appeal so intensely to so many millions of people? Primarily, it is certainly because a stamp collection provides a constant, unfailing source of recreation and pleasure. "Twice happy is the man who collects postage stamps," said a philosopher, "for he has two worlds to live in."

An appealing fact about the stamp hobby is that it's so easy to get started. This album, some stamps, and a supply of stamp hinges are all you need.

A HOBBY FOR THE WHOLE FAMILY

Stamp collecting has been aptly described as "a fascinating hobby for young people of all ages — from eight to eighty." It provides a pleasant, enriching, companionable pastime for the whole family.

"Stamp collecting," says Catherine Clifford, in an article in Parents' Magazine, "has opened up whole new fields of common interests for our family." Parents and children can spend endless happy hours together with stamps — getting better acquainted with the world and its peoples — and with each other!

Every postage stamp tells a story. The stamp collector roams the whole world from Aden to Zululand — in the pages of his album. As your own collection grows into an ever-expanding gallery of pictures and portraits into an ever-expanding gallery of pictures and portraits from foreign lands, you too will find — as President Franklin D. Roosevelt so well expressed it — that "stamp collecting dispels boredom, enlarges our vision, broadens our knowledge, and in innumerable ways enriches our life."
